About the IBE

The Institute of Business Ethics raises public awareness of the importance of doing business ethically. Established in 1986 by business people it has grown to be a leader in its field encouraging high standards of business behaviour based on ethical values, we help organisations strengthen their ethical culture through the sharing of knowledge and good practice.

A registered UK charity, working globally, our work is supported by subscriptions from companies, associations and individuals. As well as financial support, subscribers make a positive contribution to the work of the IBE through the sharing of good practice and experiences of ethical issues. Our corporate subscribers give us a global perspective: they include a third of the FTSE100, and overseas based multi nationals representing every sector, and ensure our work is practical and challenging.

Purpose

Our purpose is to promote high standards of business practice based on ethical values.

What we do

We support and guide organisations to strengthen their culture and encourage high standards of business behaviour based on ethical values. We assist at board level and at the practitioner level with the development, implementation and embedding of effective and relevant corporate ethics strategies, policies and programmes. We help organisations to provide guidance to staff and build relationships of trust with their principal stakeholders. We raise public awareness of the importance of doing business ethically. We collaborate with other UK and international organisations with interests and expertise in business ethics. We work with the HEI sector to encourage the teaching of business ethics and run an annual student essay competition.
